

THE JUKEBUS

The Beep Oink Yodel Band is locked behind bars in the cargo hold of an electric tricycle, and connected to one-armed bandit. The girl who apparently captured the musicians roams the streets with it, always on the outlook for a fresh audience. On inserting a coin the slot machine produces a random rhythm to which the imprisoned musicians play for 2 minutes. Waging a gamble is starting a musical experiment with a highly uncertain outcome. Full chances to great music, but... you can't win 'em all.
